FAQ's & Considerations

Using a Third Party Vendor sound system / Venue's house AV system?

- No problem! We love working with other vendors and venues to ensure our music is sounding its best. This includes pre-planning and correspondence with your AV provider to ensure nothing is overlooked.
- If your AV provider requires us to provide any sound equipment of our own (usually microphones or wireless units), the cost will be added to your final invoice.

Need to supply music to multiple rooms all at once?

- Should we be providing AV services, further discussion is needed to accommodate circumstances in which music needs to be provided to multiple rooms or spaces at one time.

Do I need multiple amplification packages? / If 1 amplification package is being provided, can it moved to a different space within the venue during the event? (e.g. wedding ceremony space moving to the reception space).

- Possibly. It depends on the portability of the package you've booked, along with the amount of time we have to move and set up the equipment. In general, moving equipment during an event is not recommended and therefore unlikely that 1 package can be used for 2 spaces.
- Further discussion is required if you suspect multiple amplification packages may be needed.
